

A Star Web Site

Are you searching for information on CNC machines online? Visit Star CNC's Web site, www.starcnc.com. Not only does it offer a comprehensive source of information about the company's products and services, but it includes enhancements with visitors in mind. It offers an improved product information request form, a listing of trade shows so one can visit the company's exhibit booths, as well as detailed video clips depicting Star CNC machines in action. Downloadable information and several photographs illustrating the exterior and interior components for each Star CNC machine allow understanding of the company's equipment capabilities.

